GENERAL NEWS.

There is nothing particularly exciting in the Fenian news this morning. Gen. Spear still occupies his encampment at St. Armand, and we have reports of the sound of muskerry in that direction. The British troops are concentrating near him, and he probably will soon have to leave or be captured. The skedaddle of Fenians homeward has commenced, and the United States Government fornishes free transportation for those who wish it. The Canadian Parliament opened yesterday. The Governor-General in his speech announced the suspension of the habeas corpus act. From Rochester we have reports of an ineffectual attempt on the part of the Fenians to seize Canadian steamers. The Board of Health met yesterilay afternoon and transacted a variety of business. The battle between the Homeopathists and Allopathists continues with unabated rigor. The offal and street-cleaning contracts occupied their share of the time of the Board, and it is more than probable that developments will soon be made which will be very unpleasant to the contractors. which was yesterday submitted to the Senate by Mr. Fessenden, and which we print this morning in full, will command the undivided attention of is Reconstruction. To secure Reconstruction on the basis of justice and freedom is the task which the party that conquered in the campaigus of 1860 and 1864 has now to perform. The report of the Reconstruction Committee is the complete, and, we may say, the official declaration of the principles which the Republican party is bound to carry through, and in the advocacy of which, we feel confident, the whole party will soon be a unit. The report begins with adverting briefly to the course report whether they were entitled to representation in Congress having failed to provide for the contingency, the duty of the President was obvious. He had no no authority was given him by the law over the subject of reconstruction.

On the meeting of Congress in December, the Prestdent officially announced the organization of local Rebel States. With regard to this recommendation, Congress must either have acted blindly upon the opinion of the President, or proceed to collect for itself chosen. Its first duty was to call upon the President for the information in his possession as to what had been done. The information, which was not communicated until six weeks after the Committee had been in actual session, appeared to the Republican members of the Committee incomplete and unsatisfactory. Under these circumstances, it appeared that but one course remained, viz., to investigate thoroughly and this information the Committee had recourse to the fortunes. If ---- esq., or the Hon. -heretofore published.

The report of the Committee next proceeds to ets of the tax-payers? The Committee, therefore, reaches the conclusion that the so-called Confederate States are not at present, entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States; that before allowing such respresentation, adequate security for future peace and safety should be required; that this can only be found in such changes of the organic law as shall determine the civil rights and privileges of all citizens in all parts of the Republic, shall place representation on an equitable basis, shall fix a stigma upon treason and protect the loyal people against future claims for the expenses incurred in support of rebellion, and for manumitted slaves, together with an express grant in Congress to enforce these provisions. To this end they offer a joint resolution for amending the Constitution, and two several bills designed to carry the same into effect. The specific recommendations submitted to Congress were the result of mutual concession, after a long and careful comparison of conflicting opinions, and the final report has received the signature of every Republican member of the Committee except Messrs. Washburne and Blow, who were absent.

The report is very able, and will occupy a conspicuous place in the history of the Republican party. Whatever exceptions may be taken to one or another part, the whole will commend itself to the friends of the Union as a conclusive and admirable summary of the measures which the majority of the party regard as indispensable for securing the lasting restoration of the 28th, and the matter is referred to the Committee | the Union and the triumph of the principles of Justice and Freedom.

"MOVE ON!"

We have just read of an Alderman in one of our Southern cities-Nashville, we think-but, in view of the invaluable moral, the precise locality is of no consequence. This Alderman has been stealing a considerable amount of the public cash. Nature or art had made his palms adhesive as well as itching, and he was under a fatal necessity of stealing whatever be officially manipulated. "Nothing extraorlinary," we hear some knowing reader exclaim; Aldermen have done so before," They have-they have; but the incomprehensible point about our readily accede to the amendments of the Senate, in Alderman is that, having got his plunder together, he actually ran away '-as if he had got enough-as if his conscience would not allow him to help himself to any more-as if gratitude would not permit him further to sponge his benefactors! This is an Alderman of the high old Roman days of the Republic, the decision of its loyal and trusted representatives at when Wm. M. What, with painful mortification, we are obliged to confess is, that our Alderman and other ity officers, gifted by nature and art with adhesive paims as aforesaid, don't run away, but continue to stay, and manipulate, and never know when they have got enough, and, so far from intending to emigrate are chief, which specially fits her for burlesque parts. Because a man is light-fingered, it does not follow that he should be an absolute glutton. Let him fill himself up, and run away! That's our notion of the morality of it! If that honest gentleman, Mr. George H. Whether the National Treasury, the army of the nation, its navy, its forts and arsenuls, its whole civil administration, its credit, its pensioners, its widows and orphans of those who perished in the war; the public honor, peace and safety, shall all be turned out to the keeping of its recent enemies, without delay, and without requiring such conditions as in the opinion of Congress the security of the country and its institutions may demand?

Seventh: The history of mankind exhibits no example of such madness and folly. The instinct of self-preservation protests against it. The surrender by Gen. Grant to Lee, and by Sherman to Johnston, would have been disasters of less magnitude, for new armies could have been raised, battles fought, and the Government saved. The anti-coercive policy, under pretext of avoiding blood-sided, allowed the Rebellion to take form and gather force; but it would be surpassed in infamy by the matchless wickedness that would surrender the inflies of Congress to those so recently in robellion, until proper precautions shall have been taken to secure the National faith and the National safety.

Sail have been taken to secure the National ratio and the National sufety.

Eighth: As has been shown in this report and in the evidence submitted, no proof has been afforded to Congress of a constituency in any one of the so-called Confederate States, unless we except the State of Tennessee, qualified to elect Senators and Representatives in Congress. No State constitution or amendment to a State constitution has had the sanction of the people. All the so-called legislation of State conventions and Legislatures has been had under military dictation. If the President may at his will and under his own authority, whether as military commander or chief Executive, qualify persons to appoint Senators and elect Representatives and empower others to elect and appoint them, he thereby practically controls the organization of a legislative department. The constitutional form of Government is thereby practically destroyed and its powers absorbed in the Executive. And white your Committee do not for a magnetic impute to the President any such design, but cheeffully concede to him the most patriotic motives, they cannot that look with alarm upon a precedent so fraught with danger to the Republic.

Ninth: The necessity of providing adequate safeguards for the future before restoring the insurrectionary States to a participation in the direction of public affairs is apparent from the bitter hostility to the Government and people of the United States yet existing throughout the conquered territory, as proved incontestably by the eatmony of many witnesses and undisputed facts.

Tenth: The conclusion of your Committee, therefore, is that the so-called Confederate States are not, at present, entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States; that before allowing such representation, adequate security for future peace and safety should be required, that this can only be found in such changes of the organic law as chall determine the civil rights and privileges of all citizens in all parts of the Republic, shall plac

Upon a question of such magnitude, infinitely important as h is to the future of the Republic, it was not to be expected that all should think alike. Sensible of the imperfections of the scheme, your Committee submit it to Congress as the best they could agree upon, in the hope that its imperfections may be cured and its deficiencies supplied by legislative wisdom, and that when family adopted it may tend to restore peace and harmony to the whole country, and to place our Republican institutions on a more stable foundation.

The Theaters. This has been a very cheerful week at the theaters, and it will close cheerfully. "Our Mutual Friend at the Olympic has been somewhat condensed, and its representation now asses off smoothly and closes at 11 o'clock. This is the nov city of the hour, and no one should miss it who enjoys Dickens. 'It is Never Too Late To Mend" will be acted at Wallack's for the last time to-night, so that whoever has not seen it must make haste to repair the omission. Mr. Dan Bryant will in-augurate the Summer season at that house on Monday. Miss Rosa Cooke is also to appear and sing. There will be a change of bill also at the Winter Garden; but meanwhile Mr. Brougham will appear as Dr. Surage this evening, and all his spectators may learn, and laugh while they learn, how perlious it is to play with fire. We hear by the way that Mr Brougham has a version of "Our Mutual Friend," which it is possible that he will produce in the course of his engagement at this theater. "The More the Merrier." It can scarcely fail to be a teiling play, and the town would like to see Mr. Brougham as Bothn. The Ravels, Pepita, and the rest of the mirthful and airy spirits at Niblo's, to whom we lately referred in detail, call for no no new remark. They give a matinée to day, and appear again in the evening, which is commendable industry, in weather like this. A matinée will also be given at the Broadway Theater, where Miss Helen Western will appear in the "French Spy," a performance which there is no need to describe. Christy's Minstrels also give a Matines. At Barnum's Museum there will be an evening and afternoon performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is to be withdrawn after to-night. Such, at least, is the present understanding of the matter; but Mrs. Howard's Topsy is very good and very popular, and so the play may chance to be kept on the bills for another week. The Worrell Sesters and Mr. Lefflagwell have afforded a good ater, where they have appeared in an extravaganza, called "The Invisible Prince." These Sisters, as we have before noted, are pleasing actresses, if the spectator be not extremely fastidious. They are merry and bright, and they sing and dance, and so make their way agreeably through all the vivacious humor which reigns upon this stage, and so "The Invisible Prince" passes off with ease, and pleases the specwell known and really remarkable boy-gymnast. The aim of Mr. Wood is to make his theater a pleasant place of Summer resort for those who merely wish a transient amusement, and policy. At the Old Bowery there will be the customary Saturday night entertainment—plenty of drama, at a reasona-The French comedians give a performance at their new Theater to-night. "Les Mysteries de L'Ete" will be acted for the benefit of that brilliant actress, Mile. Potel.

Trotting on the Union Course, L. I .- Match for One Thousand Dollars between Lady Thorn and George Wilkes-The Latter the Winner.

Yesterday the most interesting trotting contest of the season came off on the Union Course, L. I., aitracting the largest attendance seen on that track this Spring. It was a George Wilkes and Mr. Relph's famous bay mare Lady Thorn. mile heats, best three in five, in harness, for $1,000 a side. The celebrity of the two contestants invested this match with unusual interest; Ludy Thorn being the only horse that had ever beaten the world-renowned Dexter. The day was highly propitious, being bright and warm, and the track in splendid

The betting was unusually heavy, the mare being the faverite at $1,000 to $400, and these odds were eagerly taken the friends of the brown stallion. After the first heat, the betting changed, and Wilkes became the favorite, the lavers of odds at the commencement being anxious to "hedge" their oney. As the subjoined details wil show, the brown horse won the match in three straight heats. The Lady Thorn party attribute her defeat to her having been amiss the week revious, from a complaint incidental to mares at this season; and there is little doubt that she was not up to the mark, as she has made a better time record than was done yesterday. She was driven by her trainer, Dan Pfifer, while John Crooks was behind the brown stallion,

WASHINGTON, Frid June 8, 1898. THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT IN THE SENATE. At a late hour this evening the Constitutional Amendment was finally disposed of in the Senate by a vote of 33 to 11. The nays were Cowan, Davis, Doelittle, Guthre, Hendricks, Johnson, McDougall, Norton, Riddle, Saulsbury and Van Winkle. The aboutees were Brown, who would have voted yea, and Backalew, Dixon, Nesmith and Wright, who would have voted nay. McDougal was unaccountably present at that late hour in the afternoon, and, with unerring instinct, voted with the Democrace every time. Speaker Colinx and a large number of members of the House, which had adjourned, were on the floor, and a number still remained in the galleries eager to witness the final action upon this most important bill. Headricks. Davis and Johnson seemed resolved upon thwarting a vote by dilatory motions, but the Senate majority were determined to close the week by the passage of this long-debated and most grave enactment. Senator Pomeroy occupied the chair during the afternoon. A general feeling of relief and gratification at the result prevails, PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE.

The House was occupied with the consideration of private bills, and several little jobs are said to have slipped through the Congressional net. Mr. Stevens, whose appearance still indicates extreme debility, submitted the report of the Reconstruction Committee, which is understood to have been prepared by Senator Fessenden, and is a document challenging careful attention. It was a noticeable fact that the Democrats voted solid against the bill establishing a Bureau of Education. It failed by two votes only, in a very thin House. of the Commissioner of Pensions, rejecting an application for an invalid pension, for the reason that the applicant was dishonorably dismissed on a second enlistment, although the disability was incurred in the previous service from which he was honorably discharged. The Commissioner holds that by the word "discharge" an honorable discharge is intended, and that a dismissal under sentence of court martial is described in other language in military proceedings and records. XXXIXTH CONGRESS. FIRST SESSION.

SENATE......WASHINGTON, June 8, 1866.

Mr. ANCHONY (R. L) introduced a bill amendatory of the act to provide for the better organization of the Pay Department of the Navy, approved May 3, 1866. It provides that so much of the act as requires that person appointed shall be selected from those who have served as Acting Assistant Paymasters for the term of one year, and who were eligible to appointment in the grade of Assistant Paymasters, be repealed; and that it shall be no objection to the appointment and confirmation of persons who have served as Acting Assistant Paymasters if they are not over 22 years of ago.

This was referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

THE RECONSTRUCTION RESOLUTIONS. On motion of Mr. Grimes (lows), the Senate at 19:18 postponed all prior orders, and took up the Reconstruction Resolutions. The pending question was on the following, proposed by Mr. Williams as a substitute for the second section:

section:

Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed; but wherever the right to vote at any election held under the Constitution and laws of the United States, or of any State, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such States, being 21 years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crima. The basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens, 21 years of age, in such State.

Mr. Johnson (Md.) said he would say a few words on the Mr. Johnson (Md.) said he would say a few words on the pending amendment before discussing the general proposition embraced in the resolution. It would be found that Mr. Williams's amendment was liable to very serious objections. Mr. Johnson then proceeded fo show what would be the effect of the second section upon the representation of Maryland. It would reduce it more than a fourth. It would reduce it in the proportion of 33,639 to 166,491. It would certainly lose one Representative, per haps two. The effect would be worse in other States. The third section, he said, would disfranchise the best men of the South. It would never be ratified or accepted by the people of the South.
